Assimilative Democracy

THE capacity of our University buildings and equipment is limited. Its increase does not keep pace with the increase of the demands upon it. We had room for less than half of those who sought admission to our Colleges at University Heights last September.

Finding it impossible to admit all applicants, even those who satisfied in full our scholastic requirements, we determined to admit, first of all, those who give promise of leadership and whose education bids fair to be public benefit.

In this crisis of civilization, our democratic institutions must assimilate foreign material; they must not permit themselves to be assimilated by an excess of foreign materials with un-American ideals.

Believing in this, we undertook, perhaps for the first time in our American education, the selection of students for admission on the basis of psychological and personal, as well as educational qualifications. We have also required the applicants to satisfy the committee of their loyalty to the ideals of our government.

We have not excluded foreign students as such, nor students of any particular class. But we have sought to establish, preserve, and protect a college environment in which students of any social background can be sympathetically assimilated to American ideals.

With a scholarly faculty of strong purpose and a student body that will this year number nearly 1000, selected from double that number of applicants, the colleges at University Heights embody the cumulative success of an unusual educational experiment.

With resident dormitory and fraternity life, these colleges, on a campus, in the shadow of the Hall of Fame, present and preserve the life of a country college in this metropolitan environment.

2 SHOT, ONE KILLED, NEAR HEADQUARTERS

Hester and Baxter Streets
See Exciting Chase After Street Affray.

ONE SUSPECT TAKEN

Policeman Leaps From Second Story Window to Capture Shooter.

SHOT 11 TIMES; LIVES

Man Attempting to Hold Up Newark Cafe Fired On by Score of Patrons.

Two men were shot, one mortally, at Hester and Baxter streets last night, so near to Police Headquarters that the sound of the explosions of the revolver reached the Headquarters Building. The chase after the man alleged to have done the shooting, Brooklyn, swept north in Baxter street, along Grand street, skirting the southerly end of Police Headquarters, and north in Lafayette street, ending at Broome street, where the arrest was made.

At the head of the pursuers were Patrolman Gaetano Christiano of the Alexander avenue station, The Bronx, and his brother, Patrolman Vincenzo Christiano of the Classon avenue station, Brooklyn.

They had been calling on their mother, in 204 Hester street. When the shots were fired Vincenzo dashed down the stairs and rushed toward the crowd at the corner. Gaetano thrust open a window and leaped into the street from the second story, unhurt, and was off on the chase before his brother gained the bottom landing.

Clemente Siclari, 65, of 153 Mulberry street, shot in the head, lay on the curb. He died a few hours later at Gouverneur Hospital. A few feet away lay John Vitale, 149 Mulberry street, with a red line across his head where a bullet had skimmed. Running north in Baxter street, it was alleged, was Savarino, pistol in his hand, warning back his pursuers.

Tripped and Captured.

Gaetano Christiano reached Grand street to find people shouting: "He jumped on a car!" The policeman ran after the car, and some one aboard it pulled the bell at it reached Lafayette street. A wild-eyed man sprang off and headed up Lafayette street. Gaetano was almost alone in the pursuit, but his brother was making fast time behind him. There was a brief struggle as Gaetano tripped and captured his man at Broome street. The two Christiano brothers took the captive to Elizabeth street station.

Savarino had no revolver when arrested. Later Andrew De Petro, 6 handed to Detective Cavanaugh a revolver, which he had picked up in Hester street. It had been fired three times.

At the Elizabeth street station a crowd jeered Savarino, and one woman became furious with rage. She was Minnie Galetto of 123 Mulberry street. But neither from her nor any of the others could the police learn what caused the shooting.

Shot Eleven Times; Lives.

An attempt to hold up a bartender in a cafe at 215 Halsey street, Newark, early yesterday morning resulted in rapid revolver play, in which fifty shots were fired, eleven of which entered the body of the alleged holdup man, Peter Saratella. He is alive in Newark City Hospital. He was shot three times in the right side of the face, twice in the left side, twice in the left arm, once in the right hand and three shots grazed his head.

Patrons of the cafe, who were sitting at screened in tables playing cards, were said to have fired all of the shots but one. Saratella is alleged by the bartender, James Kane, to have fired one shot to enforce a command, "Put up your hands."

The card players being screened, Saratella, the police said, thought the bartender was alone. As the shot, alleged to have been discharged from Saratella's weapon, sounded the men at the tables, with a perfect bead on Saratella, began

JERUSALEM FIRST CAPTURED BY SOLDIER HUNTING EGGS

Wanders Into City on Foraging Trip and Gets Keys When Turks Had Left—Then Allenby Marches in After Two Other 'Captures.'

According to the official records the city of Jerusalem was taken, after it had been evacuated by the Turks, by the British army under Gen. Allenby. But according to Major Vivian Gilbert of London, who commanded a machine gun battalion in the Palestine campaign, and who spoke last night before the Central Branch Y. M. C. A. in Hanson place, Brooklyn, the city was captured four times, the first time by an orderly hunting for eggs and the fourth time by Gen. Allenby himself.

The Turks went out of Jerusalem on the night of December 8, 1917. The next morning an orderly, sent to forage the neighboring villages for eggs, returned and reported that a "bloomin' old cove with whiskers and a crowd of people had given him some keys and made a speech when he asked for eggs." Unable to understand what it was all about, the orderly listened to the speech, refused the keys and hurried back to the British camp. Brigadier Watson, Major Gilbert said, was informed, and realizing that the orderly had wandered into Jerusalem, went into the city and received the keys and the surrender from the Mayor.

But that didn't end the capture of the city. The Major-General commanded shooting, according to the police account. The noise of the fusillade brought policemen who detailed four persons as witnesses. Most of the others had fled.

Those detained were Kane, the bartender; Walter Zeh, 56 Lafayette street; Everett Merlin, 57 Wright street, Newark, and Al Lillian, 60 Newark street, Elizabeth. Irving Werner, found to have been wounded slightly in the hand, was released at Police Headquarters.

Four Arrested on Roof.

Four youths were arrested on the roof of the loft building at 30 West Thirty-third street yesterday morning by Detectives Lutz and Lennon of the West Thirtieth street station. They were alleged to have stolen cigarettes from a store on the first floor, and then to have gone up a fire escape to the roof. Leslie Gilfoyle, 18, 437 West Thirtieth street; Joseph Mott, 17, 331 Seventh avenue, and John Lynch, 17, 341 West Forty-third street, were held in $2,000 bail each in Jefferson Market Court on charges of burglary. Solomon Hocke, 14, of 22 West Twenty-seventh street was held for Children's Court.

The front window in the pawnshop of the John Millburg Company at 350 Third avenue was broken in Saturday night and jewelry valued at $500 stolen. Two bundles packed with loot were found and it is believed the thieves were frightened away by a burglar alarm.

Six men arrested yesterday on the East Side were taken to Brooklyn Police Headquarters. The police charge that the men stole shirts valued at $3,500 from the Chain Shirt Shop, 1723 Pitkin avenue, and seventy-five men's suits, valued at $4,000, from a store in Thadford avenue, Brooklyn.

They were Frank Avenet, 16 Allen street; Irving Fishman, 115 Essex street; Simon Graft, 224 Seventh street; Morris Haberman, 224 East Thirtieth street; Mennie Perlestein, 118 Suffolk street, and Max Taubler, 134 Third street.

THREE WHO ATTACKED KENTUCKY JAIL GIVE UP

Surrender to Deputy in a Mountain Cabin.

JACKSON, Ky., Dec. 11.—Three alleged members of the band of masked men that attacked the county jail here early Saturday morning, shot to death Albert Robert, a deputy jailer, and probably fatally wounded the daughter and daughter-in-law of Jailer J. A. Allen gave themselves up late today. Other members of the party, it is said, will surrender within the next few hours.

The men, W. P. Watts, Sam Grigsby and Tony Porter, kinmen of Bud Noodle, said to be the leader of the gang, surrendered to Deputy Sheriff Flint Davis, who, unaccompanied, went to the mountain cabin of Hiram Watts, father of W. P. Watts, in Breathitt county. Davis, who was at the head of one of the posse of armed citizens that have been scouring the mountains in pursuit of the men, left his followers several miles from the cabin. Approaching the house Davis told Hiram Watts that his son, Grigsby and Porter were suspected of being members of the band. The three, who were in the cabin at the time, signified their willingness to surrender to Davis, who has them in custody in the cabin.

HONEST CONVICT MUST SERVE.

Sing Sing officials announced yesterday that they had denied a request of members of the Mutual Welfare League to revoke a ten day extra sentence for infraction of rules imposed on Robert Hennessy. He had turned in to the office a valuable diamond belonging to Miss Gene Ennor after he had found it in the prison and the league pleaded for him on account of his honesty.

WARDEN STABBED NINE TIMES IN PRISON RIOT

Slayer Heads Unsuccessful Michigan Revolt.

MARQUETTE, Mich., Dec. 11.—A riot among prisoners at the branch of the Michigan State Reformatory here during a moving picture exhibition this morning was quelled after T. B. Catlin, warden, had received nine knife wounds.

Deputy Warden Menhennit had been badly beaten and the latter's son, Arthur Menhennit, who was visiting his father at the prison, had been stabbed in the lungs. Arthur Menhennit is in a hospital and is said to be in a serious condition.

A large number of the prisoners had been taken to the chapel to witness the entertainment. After the chapel had been darkened to permit showing of the pictures, prisoners, led by Cyprius Bob Harper, Jasper Perry and Charles Roberts, all of Detroit, sprang upon Catlin. As a prison rule prohibits carrying of firearms within the institution, the officials, aided by a large number of loyal prisoners, fought the insurgents with their fists, feet or with canes.

Carving knives were brought into play and Catlin fell before the knife thrusts. Arthur Menhennit went down soon afterwards as his father was receiving a beating.

Sam Board, serving a life sentence, rushed from the chapel as the disturbance started and summoned Charles Muck, a guard, from the outer wall. Muck ran to the chapel, leveled his rifle at the prisoners and kept them at bay while other guards were summoned. The prisoners were herded to their cells.

The trouble is believed by prison officials to have had its inception in friction between Warden Catlin and Harper. The latter was sentenced to Jackson prison from Detroit for highway robbery some time ago. While at Jackson he killed a fellow prisoner during a knife battle and was transferred to Marquette as punishment. Three months ago he escaped from the prison, but was recaptured two days later at Negaunee, thirteen miles from here.

LITTLETON, N. H., Dec. 11.—The man killed in a holdup last Thursday at Kingston, Mass., who was known to the authorities as Elmer Gardner of Boston, was buried here today under his real name, Edward C. Cardinal. He had lived here until recently and worked as a chauffeur. His mother lives in Boston.

John Roland, James Wickham and John Harsham are in jail here at Plymouth, Mass., charged with the murder of Cardinal. They will have a hearing on December 17.

LONE RADIO STATION GETS CALVE'S VOICE

Fog Signals Ruin Efforts of Wireless to Catch Recital Far at Sea.

HEAR DOUG AND MARY

Film Stars Joke With Babylon Operators When Atmosphere Clears.

Mme. Emma Calve, opera singer, gave a radiophone recital yesterday afternoon from the wireless room of the steamship Paris, on board which she is returning to the United States for a visit. Three automatic and persistent radio compasses for signal stations blotted out most of her voice, and so far as could be learned last night she was heard at only one station. That was the Independent Wireless Telegraph Company's New York station, situated at Babylon, L. I. An announcement of the recital had been made by wireless on Saturday.

From John A. Bassen, manager of the station, it was learned that Mme. Calve tried to make her voice heard by all radiophone stations—amateur and professional—within the radius of the Paris's set. Even down at Babylon the result was not what had been expected. Her songs were interrupted by the intermittent buzzing of the fog signal machines on the Ambrose Channel and Scotland lightships and at Fire Island light. The song was sent on a 900 meter wave, but atmospheric conditions partly drowned it out.

Last night the atmosphere cleared a little and the fog signals stopped. The Babylon station got into communication with the Paris and learned that Mme. Calve's recital could not be repeated because the singer was tired. And then Doug and Mary, who are coming back on the "wire" and talked and laughed and kidded the Babylon station. Two French airs were played on a talking machine after that.

FIGHT EXPECTED OVER HANNA ESTATE TAXES

New York and Ohio May Engage in Battle.

A legal battle between New York and Ohio over the collection of inheritance taxes is expected to develop when the will of Dan T. Hanna, who died at his country estate at Yorktown, Westchester county, is filed for probate at White Plains. The date of the probate of the will has been set for January 13, having been adjourned again in order that supplementary citations may be served on some of the heirs.

The will of Mr. Hanna leaves the bulk of his estate to his three sons, but it is said that the State of Ohio will claim most of the inheritance taxes. Which State collects them will depend on the place that the courts establish as his legal residence.

CAN'T FIND YONKERS MASHER.

The police of Yonkers have been unable to get any trace of a "masher" who is said to have enticed Mrs. Hilda Walger, aged 23, of 54 Sedgwick avenue, Yonkers, into his automobile Saturday evening and then tried to embrace her. She fought him off and finally leaped from the machine, suffering lacerations and a concussion of the brain.
